MESSAGE FROM THE CEO & SECRETARY

Dr. P. Krishnakumar MBA, PhD

It is my proud privilege to introduce the large group of pioneering educational institutions popularly known as the 'Nehru Group of Institutions' owing its origin to the southernmost part of peninsular India. Higher education is a part of socio-economic system and has a strong and direct bearing on the economic, social, political and cultural developments of the nation. I would like to quote the golden words of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru "If everything is well with universities in the country, then everything will be well with this nation".

Nehru Group of Institutions with well conceived vision and missionary efforts is ardent and aggressive on the pursuit of fulfilling the aspirations and expectations of the universally recognized and reputed personality. The group is consistently and constantly endeavoring to equip its students with the required environment to shine in their lives as employees or employers.

Dr. Sengaliappan Mariappan is an accomplished academician and researcher in the field of Computer Science and Information Systems, with over two decades of experience in teaching, administration, and research. He is currently serving as Associate Professor in the Department of MCA at Nehru College of Management, Coimbatore. He holds MCA, M.Phil., M.E., and Ph.D. qualifications and has published more than 30 research papers along with books and conference proceedings. His research interests include Computer Science, Information Systems, and emerging technologies. He has received several recognitions, including the Best Teacher Award and Star Faculty Award, and serves as a Senate Member of Bharathiar University. Dr. Mariappan is committed to academic excellence, research innovation, and student development.

Mr. J. Noor Ahamed MCA, MPhil, have 14 years of teaching experience and 10 years of industry experience, which have helped me build a strong foundation in both academia and technology. At NGI, I am actively involved in teaching, mentoring, curriculum development, and promoting Product-Based Learning through real-world projects. I have contributed to the digital transformation of educational institutions by developing web and mobile applications for various colleges within the NGI ecosystem. My core expertise spans Software Development, Web and Mobile Technologies, Artificial Intelligence, and System Programming. Currently, I am conducting AI training programs and workshops for both students and faculty members, helping them understand and apply emerging AI technologies. I am passionate about innovation, technology-driven learning, and preparing learners to become industry-ready professionals.

Newspapers with rows and rows of body text can look uninviting to readers. Give their eyes a visual break by using pull quotes. Usually set in bigger font than the body text, it can be used to highlight a key point of the article, or serve as a graphic element. Captions also allow readers to scan through the page. A good caption is short but informative.

Artwork can bring life to your newsletter, too. For this, you can enlist the help of artistic students. Include a cartoon in your editorial piece or caricatures of well-known personalities in school. Have the artist create a sketch of your school mascot, or even make one for your own school paper.

Listening to your readers ensures they keep coming back for more. In your staff box, include an email inbox where your readers can send in their feedback, comments, or suggestions. To keep audiences engaged, you can also allot a column for letters to the editor. Other contributions like poems or photos are welcome, too. Have some space for helpful information like important academic calendar dates and upcoming events. Last but not the least, strive to abide by the highest journalistic standards of accuracy and fairness. These will serve as your protection against legal trouble.
